CARDINALS SLUG THE BALL AND DEFEAT THE NEW YORKS.

Consational Work With the Stick and in the Field-Brooklyns Beaten in a Thirteen Inning Game With the Cincinnatis-Pirates Win From Quakers.

The first series of games between Eastern and Western clubs of the National League began yesterday, the Westerners taking all three. Every game was hard fought, two of them going into extra inuings. St. Louis heat New York, Cincinnasi drubbed Brooklyn and Pittsburg polished off Philadelphia. The results:

ST. LOUIS (N. L.', S; NEW YORK (N. L. ', 7. Such a shaking up as the St. Louis Cardisuch a shaking up as the St. Louis Cardinals gave McGinnity's pitching yesterday is an occurence as scarce as home runs over the grand stand. Those at the Polo Grounds yesterday could not recall a game in which Joseph's delivery had been so violently maitreated. The Cardinals took to it as a horse does to sugar, as a duck does to water and as a cat to a back yard fence. They liked it well, yet they castigated it sorely. They won the game, but they needed all the hits they made, as the New Yorks were having a batting festival all their own, and finished enly one run behind. The visitors battled the New Yorks with might and main, taking the lead, then losing it, then regaining it in the minth inning. There were a few poor plays, but more brilliant ones, and the game seethed with excittement and uncertainty and kept the crowd in a ferment of hope and fear. It was by all odds the liveliest game of the season at the Polo Grounds.

The New Yorks were as fast as the wind on the bases, but even that with their boisterous hitting and somegreat work in the St. Louis outfield. Dunleavy and Shanoon were thrillers in the outer garden, with their splendid performances on fly balls, and each of these worthies culled four hits aplece. Another contender who amassed a quartet of bingles was feotre Browne, who knocked the ball lop sided. All told, there however thirty-two hits, of which two were home runs, two two-baggers and one a triple. Every inning bad more or less commotion, but the Cardinals opened the throttle to the limit in the minth inning, saving the climax to the last, when they swept the field with six ripping singles in succession.

Smoot's single, a wild pitch and Browne's nuff gave the Cardinals a run in the first inning, and New York made one on hits by Browne and Bresnahan and Burke's low throw, that he had hone run in the hifth on Thielman's single and Shannon's two-bagger. The New York sided the score in the fifth on hits by Gilbert, Donlin and Browne. In the meantime there had been much vivacious fielding, Da pals gave McGinnity's pitching yesterday is an occurence as scarce as home runs over whether picking the bail on of the textore or taking it while running in at breakneck speed.

Donlin ran far out and took Brain's fly in the fifth inning, a regular McAleer catch, but he misjudged Dunleavy's liner in the sixth, and the bail sailed over his head for a hone run. The Champions forged to the front in the seventh inning, when Donlin ingled, Burke made a feverish throw of owne's bunt and Mertes sent a long fly to Shannon. There was one out in the ninth when the Cardinals began to hammer the horsehide into tatters. Clarke, Shannon, Smoot, Brain, Beckley and Dunleavy each made a hit, and each was zipping, crashing lick. There were four runs over the plate when McGsun swung on to Grady's fiery drive and ended the inning. Browne's tearing triple and an out at first base meant a run for New York in the ninth. The score:

For seven innings yesterday at Washington Park the Brooklyns had a lead of four runs over the Cincinnatis. The latter were shut out up to that time, but they tied the score by the end of the ninth inning, and in the thirteenth inning they won. The Reds outhatted the Brooklyns considerably, as well as outfielded them, the Brooklyns putting up a shabby fielding game. It was a hard-fought contest, but by no means a classy one.

Dobbs singled in the second inning. Babb was safe on Dolan's muff, and Ritter sacrificed. Pobbs was out at the plate on McIntyre's grounder to Corcoran. Phelps threw wild to second to catch McIntyre, and Babb scored. Sheckard walked, and Lumley's home run sent in two runs ahead of the batter. Hits by Seymour, Sebring, Corcoran, Steinfeld and Phelps gave the Reds three runs in the eighth inning. They tied the score in the ninth on Babb's error and hits by Odwell and Sebring.

BETTING RING DECLARED OPEN

RACETRACK OWNERS TAKE FINAL ACTION IN THE MATTER.

Five Vacancies in Syndicate's Front Line Filled Just Hefore Last Race Yesterday First Come First Served Todit-Mets Butten: Reeline in Value.

track managers and the bookmakers' syndicate, otherwise known as the Metropolitan Turf Association, was suddenly terminated just as the betting on the last race at Belmont Park began yesterday. The Mete had been operating all the afternoon with only seventyfive members in the front line and their friends had been busy circulating the report that they had carried the day permanently when suddenly an order came from a special meeting of the track owners to William A. Pinkerton, who arrived here from Chicago on Monday to take charge of affairs, to notify John G. Cavanagh that the truce was at an end and that the five vacancies in the "front line" should be filled immediately with nonmembers of the syndicate.

In an instant Cavanagh was ready to act.

He summoned to his aid "Paris," a big negro who makes a business of adjusting the stools in the ring, and before the Mets knew what was in the wind Cavanagh was hustling hither and thither, followed by an excited crowd of layers and sheet writers. Robert Tebo, William Gargan, Charles Litt, John Cahill and Charles Morrison, all "back liners, were quickly ordered to move into the front "Paris" paved the way for them and they leaped into the places in high glee.

Many other "back line" bookles besieged Cavanagh for equal privileges, but as the day's operations were nearly at an end and all of the Mets were still busy in their regu-lar places this was out of the question.

In carrying out the orders of the racetrack managers Cavanagh opened the ring, a proeeding that has been repeatedly predicted by THE SUN ever since the present controversy began. The track owners had been conferring all day and had decided to remain firm.

began. The track owners had been conferring all day and had decided to remain firm. To have allowed the bookmakers' syndicate to run things would have been a fatal error, they said, and that was why they had decided to take the buil by the horns.

No sconer had the ring been declared open than the leaders of the syndicate were panic-stricken. They wanted to have another conference with somebody in authority and they hurried to the clubhouse, where they talked the matter over at length after the races. They were simply wasting time, as the edict of the track owners was final. There will be no backdown, The Sun has been reliably informed, and if there is any further trouble the Mets will not be recognized as a body at all. In fact, the track owners have never recognized beiting in any form and for that reason they feel that the Mets are entitled to no more privileges than the other reputable layers who are operating daily in the ring.

An exact statement of what occurred at the meeting of the racetrack owners in the afterneon was obtained late last night from an authoritative source. Nearly all of the tracks were represented at the meeting and it was decided not to recognize any association or the alleged claims, pretensions or rights of any association on the racetrack.

This means that an absolutely open ring will prevail to-day, and it will be a question of first come first served." Whether or not the applicants for positions in the front live are includes of the Mets talked war. They went over the ground stready covered in The Sun and threatened to de all sorts of things in retallation, but it can be said that a majority of the Mets are not with them. In fact, there are a dozen of the most inherital layers who have been ready to break away from the organization for some time because of the high-handed methods prevalent in its management.

The proceedings vesterday had an immediate effect upon the marketable value of handed methods prevalent in its management.

The proceedings vesterday had an immediate effect upon the marketable value of the mystic button of the Mets. Last night Dick Brown sold his seat to Phil Howell for $1.500. It was not long ago that these seats were worth $4.000 each.

If there is any attempt to violate the rules of the track at Belmont Park to-day the offenders will be summarily efected and their badges will be taken up. It is possible, too, that they will be refused admission. Tha Pinkertons have a large force of plain clothes men on duty and are fully able to meet any emergency. But it is hardly probable that there will be any disorder, as the members of the syndicate realize that they haven't a leg to stand on in the present controversy. There may be legal proceedings of some sort and then again there may not. The Mets have been warned that they will cut off their own noses if they rebel against this final ruling of the track owners, and as there is no field in the West for them they are expected to submit to the inevitable.

The syndicate has been severely criticized ruling of the track owners, and as there is no field in the West for them they are expected to submit to the inevitable.

The syndicate has been severely criticized for refusing membership to such well known bookmakers as Jim O'Leary of Chicago and Tyler, the "Humming Bird," but under the new order of things both of these men will have a chance to book in the "front line" in future. Whether the Mets will be allowed to retain that special privilege by supplying eighty regular members each day remains to be seen, but it was said last night that the track owners would soon turn over the management of the ring with absolute power to Cavanach, who will be able to say who shall book in the front line and who shall go to the back line. In other words, the racetrack owners will insist upon equal rights for all layers with no favors. That is what the public has been clamoring for for a long time.

GOSSIP OF THE RACETRACK. Terry McGovern Told to Keep Away From Belmont Park.

Terry McGovern, the former featherweight champion, was notified when he tried to go through the turnstiles at Belmont Park yesterday that the track managers had decided that he would have to remain away in future. on the ground that he has been a source of annoyance to patrons in the betting ring and clsewhere. McGovern has not been himself for several weeks, and not long ago the bookmakers decided not to allow him to bet with them. On Monday Terry is said to have threatened Phil Howell, the bookmaker with whom he had a controversy during the Aqueduct meeting over a bet on Toi San which Howell refused to pay. There was also a complaint from the caterer that the pugilist had ordered food at his counter and had refused to pay for it. Terry also annoyed the bookmakers in the ring to such an extent that they finally sent a protest to the Pinkertons, who concluded that McGovern would be better off outside the track. James Kitchell, a bookmaker's clerk in the James Kitchell, a bookmaker's clerk in the field, while watching one of the races on the lawn, fell from a stool and broke his left leg. He was carried in an ambulance to St. Mary's Hospital, Jamaica.

The Metropolitan Jockey Club has decided to lengthen the homestretch at the Jamaica track by extending the lower turn opposite the paddock and moving the judges stand nearer the clubhouse. The short stretch at Jamaica caused much faultfinding during the recent meeting.

Jamaica caused much faultfinding during the recent meeting.

Just before the first race a horse attached to a baker's wagon filled with pies took fright and raced around the betting ring in mad flight. The pastry was scattered through the air and was devoured in no time by the hungry men who had come to the track after a light lunch. Before the horse was caught he knocked down Charles Schulz, a former puglist, who did not have time to give him an uppercut: Kid Jackson, the owner of the horse Winchester, and John Mooney, who tried to grab the bridle.

John J. McCafferty arrived at Sheepshead Bay yesterday with two carloads of horses direct from the Worth track, Chicago. McCafferty has not raced in the East for more than a year.

Public form continued to be a puzzle at lmont Park yesterday, where only favorites won. It was another perfect day for racing, and the usual crowd of 15,000 enthusiasts turned out. The Harlem Selling Stakes, one mile, was the feature. The bulk, of the betting was confined to Little Em, a hot favorite at 9 to 5, and Sidney C. Love, second in favor at 5 to 2. The latter made the run ning, with Lord Badge second, to the head of stretch, where both swung wide, O'Neill come through on the rail with Little Em. Baird put Love under a fierce drive but the favorite held him safe to the end

Good Crowd to See the Show in the Garden The soldiers, marines, sailors, rough riders, cavalrymen and kilties engaged in the mili-tary tournament at the Grarden all did better

Em. Baird put Love under a fierce drive, but the favorite held him asfe to the end, where she won handily by three parts of a length, with Love two lengths before Lord Badge. The latter beat Red Enight, who had a rough journey, by a neck. The mile was turned in 1:41.

Big Tim Sullivan's Hannibal Bey, unbacked by the Tammany politicians at 12 to 1, led nearly all the way in the first race, for platers, six furiongs straightaway, and managed to last long enough to win by a nose from Supreme Court, 6 to 1. Tommy Waddell, the favorite, was a disgraceful third. The time was 1:17 2-5.

With only three starters in the second race, for two-year-old colts, five furiongs straightaway, there was a world of speculation. Newton Bennington's Gold Badge and John E. Madden's Merry Boy were backed down to 7 to 5 and 9 to 5, respectively, while H. P. Whitney's Israfel, by Meddler—Geisha, went up to 13 to 5. When it came to racing Gold Badge was nowhere, while Hildebrand got the Whitney colt home a winner by aneck, with Merry Boy easily beating the favorite for the place. The time was 1:04 2-5. Madden's colors flashed to the front in the third race, for two-year-old fillies and geldings, four and a half furlongs straight away, when Comedienne, hammered down to 9 to 10, won in a drive by three parts of a length from James R. Keene's Pythia, second choice. August Belmont's Bivouac 12 to 1, was a poor third, beating H. P. Whitney's Pamela, 4 to 1, a neck. The time was 10:56. work last night than on Monday. The men had the frills of their uniforms straightened out and they were better accustomed to the light and glitter of the arena. Brig.-Gen. Nelson M. Neptunus, a 12 to 1 shot, upset all calculations by winning the fifth race, at seven furlongs, main track, He led all the way and took the measure of Oarsman, a hot tip, by two lengths. Orfee, 20 to 1, was five lengths away, with Jerry C., the favorite, a miserable last. The race was run in 1.27 1-5. Flyback, third in favor, took the handicap at a mile and a sixteenth in a smashing finish by a nose from Dekaber, the favorite. Preen ran out at the head of the stretch when leading and finished last, Bouvier, 40 to 1, taking third money. The time was 1.48. Baird and Hildebrand each rode two winners. The su mmaries:

The Ninety-first Highlanders varied their act by doubling the physicial drill, and it pleased the spectators, who applauded to the echo. The 'Kilties' came swinging onto the tanbark with their 'phillibegs floating say, and to the earsplitting strains of the 'Campbells Are Comin'. While the men went through their movements the pipers gave the 'Cock of the North,' 'Weel May the Keel Row' and stepped out of the ring to the tune of 'Yankee Doodle.' Capt. Bell put them through their facilies.

The Fifteenth Cavalry came in for salvos of cheering in their rough riding act, and so did the Eighth United States Infantry in a bayonet drill and battle exercise. Followers of local 'soger boye' saw a fine exhibition of bridge building with material by Company K. Twenty-second Regiment Engineers. A new feature was performed by the Signal Corps. It consisted of signaling with fiag and toreh, and they showed some feats of telegraph and telephone line building and signaling from a balloon. The Third Battlery gave a stirring artillery drill and stake driving exhibition. The crowd present was a big improvement on the opening night.

The most important item on the athletic program was the mile championship, and a field of eleven starters, including the leading cracks of the militia, toed the mark. Nebrick of the Sixty-fifth Regiment of Buffalo attracted the most attention and he loped along in fourth place for half a mile. At this point Cohen of the Thirteenth Artillery went to the front, followed by Nebrick. Thus they pegged along until the bell for the last lap, when Cohen quickened his strides and Nebrick made an effort to catch him. On the straight Nebrick closed up the gap, but had not speed enough to reach the Thirteenth man, who won by a yard. The fine of the Seventy-first Regiment Infantry, Syards. The Menta The Sulmmaries.

TO-DAY'S BELMONT PARK CARD. Lady Eccene and Lady Barbara Successful Laureate Stakes for Two-Year-Olds the Leading Featere.

The competition for the tandem cup created The Laureate Stakes, for two-year-olds, is the feature of the card for Belmont Park the most interest at the Brooklyn Horse Show last night. This cup must be wen three times by the same exhibitor before it becomes to-day. Ironsides, Battle Axe and Veronese may be the choices. The first event is for his property, and in the meantime it is held by the Riding and Driving Club. Jay F. platers at five and a half furiongs, with Old England, Little Woods, Julia M., Right and Carliale has won it twice, and Herbert La Pratt won last year. This time there were England, Little Woods, Julia M., Right and True, Consideration and Emergency possibly the best. Maiden two-year-olds will run in the second race, four and a half furiongs, with Gallavant, Voorhees, Guiding Star and Waterbok worth looking over. In the fourth race, for platers at seven furlongs, Arsenal should be a strong favorite over a poor lot, while in the last event, a handicap at a mile and an eighth, it looks like a tilt between New York and Migraine. The entries are as follows: four tandems shown. Jay F. Carlisle drove his chestnuts Eloquence and Revenue; H. H. Salmon showed the browns Skylark and Salmon showed the browns Seylark and Howling Sweil: Alfred G. Vanderbilt drove Rustling Silk and Polly Prim: Herbert L. Pratt had last year's winners, Lady Eccene and Lady Barbara.

These four made as fine a showing as was ever seen in any ring. Brooklynites favored Pratt and Solomon and the Pratt pair were ideal tapdem horses and won the prize. Vane death, but to be content with the vellow ring the state had to be content with the vellow ring. First Race-Selling: five and a half furlongs:

118 Emergency 107 Lockinvar 104 Sandown dd England. derbilt had to be content with the yellow ribbon.

Another feature of the evening was the reappearance of Judge W. H. Moore's famous gig horse, Forest King. This horse cost $12,000 in England, and was purchased in 1903 especially to win the Waldorf-Astoria cup at the national show. Forest King won, defeating Lord Brilliant. He was not shown at all last year. He was an easy winner in his class last night, but he is not in the condition he was in in 1904. He is big and has lost some of his high action.

Best collection of three borses, one shown to a gig—First prize, W. H. F. P. Keene's English Invasion Team Beaten at Meadow Breek.

The American polo team which is planning an invasion of England this year to play at Hurlingham and other grounds met with another reverse yesterday. The invaders played a match with a quartet of wielders of the mallet who are not going abroad and were beaten by 7% goals to 2% goals. The match was played at Meadow Brook. This is the second time that the stay-at-hornes have second time that the stay-at-homes have defeated the Keene contingent.

The match was holly fought throughout. Harry P. Whitney led his team well and be and J. M. Waterbury scored almost all the woals. J. E. Cowdin, who played back, rode off well and blocked a dozen tries for goals. Penalties were few, each side earning but one. Foxhall Keene and R. L. Agassiz executed a number of pretty team plays and carried the ball along for fast runs. Most of their tries for goal were not accurate enough to win a point, however, and others were well stopped and turned off by Cowdin and Thayer. Quite a large gathering of society personages watched the play and found plenty to applaud. The victory of the home contingent was not altogether unexpected and pleased most of those present.

Marvin Hart Outpoints John Wille. For the first time since his victory over Jack Johnson, at San Francisco recently, Marvin Hart of Louisville engaged in a battle Marvin Hart of Louisville engaged in a battle on last Monday night at Philadelphia. Hart met John Wille of Chicago in a six round bout and won the mill on points. It was a slashing fight all the way through. The men went at each other viciously. Although there were no knockdowns and no blood spilled, the contest was a bair raiser nevertheless. Hart had the better of the mill throughout. He was considerably aided in this respect by his superior reach and weight. In the third round Hart staggered Wille with a right on the bead. Wille quickly recovered and was in good shape at the end of the round. Hart punched Wille about the body in the fourth and fifth rounds, and in the sixth Wille had to hold on in order to stave off the Southerner's blows.
